Healthcare Violence

Healthcare Violence has become an alarming phenomenon Worldwide. Recent incidences of healthcare violence are extremely serious. IMA reserves its right to oppose the unlawful violence in healthcare establishments. IMA stands with its every member for their safety by all means.

IMA Maharashtra State Working Committee has resolved through a White Paper on Healthcare Violence, that henceforth Code Violet will be applicable across the State to safeguard medical fraternity from the healthcare violence. The White Paper on Healthcare Violence was released at the hands of Hon Dr Bhagwatji Karad, Minister of State, Ministry of Finance, Government of India during State Working Committee Meeting of IMA Maharashtra State on 21st August 2022 at Aurangabad.

All IMA Maharashtra State branches across the State are instructed herewith to follow the CODE VIOLET during violence incidences.

CODE VIOLET

After any healthcare violence incidence :

1. REPORT to your local IMA branch immediately. Report on phone initially, followed by written report in details.

REPORT to Authorities & IMA registry.

Informing IMA helps to form violence registry. Local branches are helping our affected doctors every time.

REPORT : File an FIR immediately to the nearest police station. Doctor should send immediate FIR on the letterhead & acquire acknowledgment of the same from the police station.

IMA Local branch should file separate FIR to the police station either through office bearers or through a lawyer against the violence on the branch member.

Don't succumb to any pressures. Don't withdraw or take back your complaint.

IMA Local branch should enrol the incidence with all details, images, photos of culprits, video footages in violence registry to the IMA Maharashtra State and IMA Headquarters.

2. REACT. Local IMA branch to urgently react through the Crisis Management Groups. Developing IMA Defence Cell (IMADC) or Crisis groups is the most important action while dealing with violence episodes. The red alert should be sent by affected doctor or any trained staff of the hospital on the Crisis group's what's up and concerned members of that area should reach the site immediately without delay or fear.

3. REACHOUT: Reach out to Community, Opinion Makers, Law Makers, Media & Fraternity. Involving Community leaders, social workers and prominent persons prove helpful in counselling too.

4. REGULATE Strong Central Regulation & Self Regulation. IMA advocates ethical, safe, quality, professional practice of medicine.

5. RETALIATE By Constitutional means & National Violence Registry.

IMA branches should form their local violence registry within the framework of constitution to sort out the strong solution for healthcare violence issue.

6. FOLLOW UP : Follow up immediately with the local police station. If culprits are not acted upon, issue terminal reminder to police station, local Commissionerate, Municipal Health Authorities with demand letter and time bound actions by local IMA branch.

7. Inform State IMA with planned action locally.

8. Haste in actions should be avoided Keep firm approach with balanced decisions

9. Local withdrawal of routine services can be planned in successive pattern.

10. The actions can be stepped up over a period of time by all district branches & finally by State IMA branch.

11. Involvement of District/ State governance be further augmented by State IMA branch

Failure to report even a single incidence of Hospital Violence pushes the entire fraternity close to future incidences of Healthcare Violence.

So friends in case of Hospital/ Clinic violence remember the following steps.

Report, React, Reachout, Regulate, Retaliate without fear and delay. You file FIR and local IMA branch will also file an FIR.

You aren't alone in times of distress & agony. Your IMA will stand rocksolid behind you.

Jai IMA!! Long live IMA!!

Anemia in women and girls

Prof. Girija Wagh

Iron deficiency anemia is rampant in India leading to much challenge to the health status and the quality of life of especially women and girls. Approximately two billion people in the world are anemic out of which women are seen to be affected more with 29% non-pregnant and 39% pregnant women being affected. The recent NHFS data by the Government of India reveals 52% of pregnant women affected by anemia with approximately 5 % severely affected. Girls, menstruating and pregnant women are more at risk of anemia. Much liberal views toward laboratory evaluation is necessary and the supplements as recommended by the WHO need to be followed. Anemia contributes to significant maternal morbidity in the form of preterm deliveries, preeclampsia and PPH as well as mortality. This can be controlled by correct administration of oral iron as prophylaxis as well as therapy with proper surveillance of compliance. Correct diagnosis, differentiating the types of anemia and following the correct treatment algorithms are strategies which are to be practiced. Correct interpretation of the CBC report and supportive treatments in the form of nutritional guidance, anemia, type of anemia and controlling dyspepsia can help parenteral iron in the form of Ferric carboxymaltose is safe and effective and can be considered for quick, compliant and assured rise of hemoglobin and eradication of anemia.
